

DUST & BONES: StraightShitDoomyRock with kick-ass-attitude

Straightforward, reduced to the essential, hard punky Rock, based on Hard Rock grooves with nasty guitars tuned into the basement and a whole lot of fun in the dusty bones. These guitar sounds, a striking voice and plenty of power are melded on the new album "RockItDeEP", which will be released on June 13, 2014 through Dr. Music Records and all this in the well known rough DUST & BONES manner. The etiquette becomes a minor matter and the guys give musical vent to their feelings.

DUST & BONES are a well-known squad in the German Rock underground since they published their first demo in 2000 which provided them a lot of positive feedback. After a few live gigs with bands such as Postmortem, Cockroach, Karkadan and DownEightOne, a deal with the German label Metal Axe Records followed in 2004. There the DUST & BONES debut album "Liberator" was released in July 2005. More gigs followed, among others as tour support for Onkel Tom Angelripper in April 2006. Via Firefield Records they successfully released their last album "666 Neurotic Bombs" in 2010 and earned good press reviews again. Already at the beginning of 2012 the guys visited Marc Ayerle at his studio in Ludwigsburg to start recording new material. With him DUST & BONES were able to grab a producer who received an excellent reputation in the music scene primarily for his work as live mixer for End Of Green. And exactly this reputation reflects in the transparent and powerful production of the new songs on "RockItDeEP". DUST & BONES have definitely gone one step further in their development and they have an ace up their sleeve for the German Heavy Rock maniacs.

To determine "Fight The Black Dog" as the kick-off for the new creation is certainly no coincidence but strategic talent: concise guitar sounds and energetic, catchy vocals constitute the proper salutation for everything that may come. In the following song "Alright On The Very Right Side" DUST & BONES carry on with very clear words where they ask party poopers, which want to steal their time with missionary zeal, to go to hell. In "Say Hello (To A Bunch Of Idiots)" they provide useful pedagogical tips for dealing with hardship cases: «Take it or hate it don't give a damn». Although they provide clearly calmer tones in the penultimate title on the fresh EP, "Unseen" in no case is less snotty but exudes positively the winking charm of the four musicians around bassist and vocalist Thorsten and his energetic combatants Jarle on the drums as well as Bernd and Dirk on the dusty guitars.

You can convince yourself audiovisually now as well, because DUST & BONES released with „Unseen“ and „FightTheBlackDog“ two musicvideos. With the ew record, DUST&BONES remain true to their very own style and their snotty attitude... Let's RockItDeEP!

Line-Up:

Thorsten: Vocals & Bass
Bernd: Guitar
Dirk: Guitar
Jarle: Drums

Tracklist RockItDeEP:

1. Fight The Black Dog
2. Alright (On The Very Wrong Side)
3. Erase It
4. Say Hello (To A Bunch Of Idiots)
5. Intermission
6. Unseen
7. One More Last Song (Extra Track)

Discography:

2014 RockItDeEP | Dr. Music Records
2010 666 Neurotic Bombs | Firefield Records
2005 Liberator | Metal Axe Records

Record Label:

Dr. Music Records

Website:

www.dustandbones.de